Cultivate is a gardening and horticulture enterprise based in Newton in Mid Wales. It is a social enterprise, providing goods and services to tackle social problems. Cultivate's profits are reinvested in the business and the local community.

Cultivate's original mission was to turn food waste into compost, and it soon got an opportunity to collect food waste from all over Mid Wales. The enterprise now focuses on educating people about good nutrition and it intends to expand by improving its promotion and attracting more local producers.

The enterprise runs its own nursery where organic vegetables are grown and there are allotments for local community use. It also runs a shop, selling organic vegetables and locally-produced organic food and drink. Their growers are also paid fairly for their organic produce.
